TERROR SPREAD BY SUBMARINES

Which Operate Close To Our Shores.

NUMBER OF SHIPS SENT DOWN

By German U-Boats—International War Laws Complied With, It Is Alleged.

NO LIVES REPORTED AS LOST

Boston, Mass., Oct. 9.—The submarine arm of the Imperial German navy ravaged shipping about 30 miles off the eastern coast of the United States yesterday.

Submarine activities began at daylight Sunday, three miles east of Nantucket Lightship, when the mysterious German U-boat was sighted and signaled to stop. When the submarine commander was satisfied that she was an American vessel he allowed her to proceed.

The submarine then moved in close to the lightship where at 6 o'clock a. m., she stopped the British steamer Strathdene, bound from New York for Bordeaux. After the crew had obeyed orders to take to the ship's boats the submarine sent a torpedo into the Strathdene and sank her. The raider patrolling the vicinity of the transatlantic steamship lane moved considerably to the southward. At 10:45 o'clock she halted the British steamer West Point, London for Newport News, with a warning shot. This was at a point ten miles south of the lightship. The crew took to the boats and the submarine torpedoed and sank the steamer. No other vessel was encountered until late in the afternoon.

At 4:30 o'clock six miles southeast of the lightship, the German stopped the Stephano. Passengers and crew were taken off in the ship's boats and the undersea boat shot a torpedo into the liner. As this did not appear to disable the staunch steel vessel it was supplemented by gun fire. The submarine moved off without waiting for the Stephano to sink and she remained afloat until 10:05 o'clock last night.

Near sunset the British steamer Kingston came within view of the lookout on the submersible. The same procedure was followed as with the other vessels and at 6 o'clock the Kingston went down a short distance southeast of the lightship.

The bright moonlight gave the submarine a good chance to continue operations in the evening. She moved a little to the westward and soon after dark stopped the Dutch tramp steamer Bloemerdijk, bound from New York for Rotterdam, three miles south of the lightship. Supposedly on the theory that she was carrying contraband, the steamer was sunk after the crew had entered small boats. The submarine left her still afloat, but she went down at 8:05 o'clock.

A little later the Norwegian steamer Christian Knudsen, New York for London, was similarly halted and sent to the bottom. Three other steamers were reported sunk early to-day. The Kansan meanwhile had sent broadcast radiograms telling of the submarine's appearance in the vicinity of the lightship. The West Point also was able to flash off brief messages, giving word of her plight before she was abandoned by her crew. These dispatches were picked up at Newport and a fleet of United States torpedo destroyers was immediately ordered out to pick up the crews.

Throughout the day and night the destroyers cruised in the waters for several miles around the Nantucket Lightship, receiving word from time to time of the sinking of additional vessels. They located the survivors of all the vessels known to have been destroyed except the Kingston and took them aboard. The crew of the Strathdene previously had been given shelter on the lightship. The steamer Kingston is not mentioned in maritime records and her destination was not known early to-day.

Within the Law.

Washington, Oct. 9.—State Department officials have come to the conclusion that so far none of Germany's promises to the United States and none of the rules of international law have been broken in the submarine raid off the New England coast. No official announcement of this view was made, but it is known to have been reached after review of such reports as are available.

Asbury Park, N. J., Oct. 9.—Secretary of the Navy Daniels, in a preliminary report to President Wilson to-day, said that advice so far received indicated that all the rules of international warfare had been complied with by the German submarines operating off the New England coast.

Baby Abandoned at Theater.
Paducah, Ky., Oct. 7.—A 4-month-old baby, in a carriage, was left in the lobby of the Kentucky Theater here last night after the performance, and was found by the doorkeeper. Inquiries failed to elicit any information as to the child's parents or how it got there, and the baby is being cared for by the theater employees. The police were sure it was a case of abandonment.

EDISON AND FORD SEEK MEANS TO HELP WILSON

Both Republicans, Who Say Fate
Of America Is In Trustworthy Hands.

New York, Oct. 7.—Thomas A. Edison and Henry Ford, arm in arm, walked into the office of Chairman Vance C. McCormick at Democratic national headquarters to-day. They wanted to find out how they could best direct their efforts to insure Wilson's re-election. Mr. McCormick had invited them to do so, and they took him at his word. The two went to luncheon with the chairman and Secretary of the Navy Daniels, and conferred, particularly with regard to methods of reaching the independent voters of the country. "Give the people the facts," declared Mr. Edison, "and it will be a Wilson landslide. No President ever faced such problems, no President ever made such a record of achievements. It is not alone that Woodrow Wilson has statesmanship; he has leadership, too. I have always been a Republican, but I put my country above party. In a world crisis, with the fate of America in the balance, I would take shame to myself if I did not put myself behind a man who has given us peace with honor, prosperity with justice and preparedness without militarism."

Mr. Ford was no less emphatic. "Like Mr. Edison," he said, "I am a Republican. But I cannot stay with a party that puts office-seeking first and America last. President Wilson has saved the United States from the horrors and desolation of international war. He has saved us from industrial wreck. His domestic policies have given new strength to legitimate enterprise, protected the worker, emancipated the children and destroyed evils that were sapping the courage of America. He is a great President. More than that, he is the greatest American."

"Never were issues so plain. Woodrow Wilson stands for America, for an undivided allegiance, for equal justice and for the welfare of the many. Against him are all the forces of rapacity, special privilege, eager to get back their loaded dice, the exploiters of children and greedy concessionaires. It is their millions against Americanism."

Found Guilty Of Uxoricide.
Carlisle, Ky., Oct. 9.—Guy Linville, of Carlisle, charged with shooting and killing his wife, Mrs. Mollie Linville, in this city, last winter, was found guilty of manslaughter by a jury in the Nicholas Circuit Court and his punishment fixed at confinement in the penitentiary for not less than six nor more than twelve years. The jury was out four hours before a verdict was reached. Linville's defense was that he was not in his right mind when the shooting took place. He shot himself with suicidal intent and has not yet fully recovered.

Democrats all over the State are showing more enthusiasm this year than in any previous campaign, according to reports brought to Democratic headquarters by speakers who have been campaigning in all sections of the State.

A HAPPY HOUSE PARTY THE SCENE OF KILLING

Mans Gibson Cuts Arthur Hayden's Throat—The Slayer Claims Self-Defense.

Calhoun, Ky., Oct. 8.—A house party attended by 100 of McLean county's leading citizens ended abruptly last night when two of the guests, Mans Gibson and Arthur Hayden, became involved in a fight, which resulted in Hayden's death.

While most of the guests were assembled in the home of Hayden's cousin, Claude Whittaker, Gibson and Hayden were in a group of men on the front porch. Gibson accused Hayden of using profane language within hearing of the women. An argument led to a quarrel. The men struggled from the porch and into the yard.

A moment later Gibson entered the house and declared he had cut Hayden. He carried a small pocket knife in his hand and pointed to a bruise on his forehead, indicated, he said, by brass knuckles used by Hayden. Guests rushed to the yard. Hayden was dead. His jugular vein was severed.

Gibson went to a telephone and notified Sheriff W. A. Shackelford of his act, and a short time later was arrested and brought here and held in jail on a charge of murder. His plea is self-defense.

Whittaker's home is about three miles north of Calhoun. Both Gibson and Hayden were among the best known of the young farmers of McLean county. They were good friends. Their farms are located within a short distance of each other and the two men went to Whittaker's party together. Witnesses said both men had been drinking.

Hayden was 23 years old. Following the fight his body was taken into the house and a coroner's inquest was held at once. The verdict was that he had come to his death by a knife wound inflicted by Gibson, but the jury was non-committal as to the responsibility for the trouble.

Gibson is 20 years old. He would not discuss the trouble to-day further than to say that Hayden had struck him a severe blow with the brass knuckles and that he acted in self-defense. Few incidents in recent years have aroused such excitement.

HUGE SUM IS PAID TO SETTLE A DIVORCE SUIT

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 7.—Under an agreement between counsel for Mrs. Alice Bridgeford Carrier and Robert M. Carrier, millionaire lumberman, the divorce action begun by Mrs. Carrier July 7 will be settled by the payment to Mrs. Carrier of approximately $270,000.

Provisions also have been made for the young son of Mr. and Mrs. Carrier, the agreement calling for a trust fund of $40,000, the income from which is to be applied by the mother for the education of the son and for his expenses until he becomes of age. Mrs. Carrier is to be the trustee of the fund and is to inherit the fund in the event the son dies before arriving at his majority.

Following the acceptance to-day of the agreement by all of the parties in interest the highly sensational divorce action will be withdrawn and Mrs. Carrier will file another suit charging only abandonment, which will not be contested.

MINE MANAGER HELD FOR RANSOM MAKES ESCAPE

Oak Creek, Col., Oct. 7.—Kidnapped Wednesday night by a band of Greeks, and held for $15,000 ransom, Robert Perry, manager of the Moffett coal mines, at Oak Creek, early today shot one of his captors and escaped. The kidnappers broke into Perry's quarters Wednesday night and carried him off to a lonely cabin, twenty miles into the hills. While one of the Greeks was preparing a meal Perry worked his hands from the rope with which they were tied, snatched a pistol from the holster of another who was guarding him, shot him and ran. He telephoned from a ranch house the news of his escape. His father last night received a letter saying his son would be killed unless the $15,000 ransom was paid.

Some people would rather be right than be happy.

ABUNDANT EVIDENCE OF REAL PROSPERITY

Is Shown By Postal Savings
Receipts In Kentucky and Indiana.

Washington, Oct. 9.—The prosperity of the people of Kentucky and Southern Indiana is indicated in postal savings receipts for recent fiscal years, as compared by the postal savings bureau of the Post-office Department, a significant feature being that during the past four years these deposits increased in practically every instance.

Among Kentucky cities for which figures as submitted for the fiscal years ending June 30, 1913, 1914, 1915 and 1916, respectively, deposits are noted as follows:

Louisville, $177,779, $217,760, $249,086, $271,237; Lexington, $2,071, $5,874, $7,404, $8,464; Frankfort, $2,210, $2,974, $3,037, $3,252; Paducah, $2,565, $4,338, $5,977, $6,420.

Southern Indiana, Jeffersonville, $4,432, $7,362, $11,024, $10,339; New Albany, $27,507, $31,517, $30,001, $29,283; Evansville, $24,737, $21,541, $20,309, $17,243.

The avidity with which the thrifty people of the West and Northwest avail themselves of the postal savings system of the Government is indicated by the fact that Butte, Mont., a town of about 43,000 population, deposited for the year ending with June 30, 1916, $967,232, as against the deposits for the same year at Baltimore, a city of around 600,000 population, of but $164,088.

Again, Ironwood, Mich., a city of about 13,000 population, deposited for 1916 $261,000, and Bisbee, Ariz., a city of around 10,000 population, $228,000. Leadville, Col., a city of 8,000 population, deposited $270,010.

NEW COAL COMPANY IS NOW BEING ORGANIZED

Whitesburg, Ky., Oct. 9.—The Detroit-Kentucky Coal Company is being organized at Robinson Creek, east of here on the Shelby Creek branch of the Baltimore & Ohio road, with $60,000 capital, for the development of a large coal land tract near Yeager. A first-class coal plant will spring up and several hundred men will be given work. The vein is seven feet thick and is known as the Elkhorn vein No. 3.

Coal operators in the Elkhorn and Boone's Fork fields, in this county, report considerable improvement in the ear situation. As a result there is more activity in the mines. A large number of new miners are being added to the field, two or three hundred within the past few days.

KANSAS DELEGATE POLL SHOWS WILSON STRONG

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 7.—An indication of the sentiment now sweeping the Western States for the re-election of President Wilson is shown in a poll made at The Seelbach to-day of twenty-six men from Kansas who are in Louisville attending a convention. Twenty of the twenty-six are Republicans, never having voted anything but the Republican ticket, yet twenty-two of the total number said to-day they were for President Wilson and will vote for him in November. It was conceded by a majority that although Kansas is strongly Republican, President Wilson has an excellent chance of carrying the State this year.

Died Sitting In Chair.

Vincennes, Ind., Oct. 9.—The lifeless body of Mrs. Josie McKinney, 45 years old, was discovered at her home here. She had been dead five days. She had been seated in a chair looking out of a window.

Mrs. W. F. Chapman Dead.
The Herrin (Ill.) Journal of October 6 says:

Mrs. Maude Chapman, wife of W. F. Chapman, Justice of the Peace of this city, succumbed to an operation for appendicitis at the Baker-Gardner hospital, passing away Wednesday, October 4, 1916. Mrs. Chapman was born at Paradise, Ky., January 29, 1864, and was 52 years, 8 months and 5 days old at the time of death. Mr. and Mrs. Chapman were married at Paradise, Ky., September 22, 1887. Five children came to bless this union, four of whom survive, namely, Carroll, Henry, Paul and Everett, all of this city, and all living at home. The family moved from Kentucky to Herrin in the fall of 1907, where they have made scores of friends who deeply deplore the demise of this worthy woman and sympathize most sincerely with the family in their great bereavement.

ODDS AGAINST WILSON DROP ON HUGHES' VISIT

Pittsburg, Oct. 7.—Odds that Hughes will be elected receded to-day to 7 to 5 as against the 2 to 1 against Wilson offered before the Republican candidate visited Pittsburg last week.

The betting commissioner who quoted the 7 to 5 said that unless Hughes money soon puts in an appearance the odds will drop to evens or to odds on President Wilson. He has had $6,000 Wilson money for two weeks, with no takers at 2 to 1. The commissioner says the Republicans haven't "peeped" in a betting way since Hughes's visit.

DESTROY $3,000 WORTH OF FISHERMEN'S NETS

Five Deputy Game Wardens Raid
Green River—A Week
Of Adventure.

The Courier-Journal of Sunday says:

About $3,000 worth of fish nets and seines were destroyed by five deputies from the office of the Kentucky Fish and Game Warden, at Frankfort, Ky., during a raid which covered more than 200 miles on the shores of Green river during the past week. The raid ended yesterday morning at the mouth of Green river, about nine miles from Evansville, Ind.

Five men, J. H. Pittman, of Greenville, Ky.; M. M. Rudolph, Sturgis, Ky.; Dr. Leslie Richey, Glasgow, Ky.; C. L. Wedding, Dundee, Ky.; and Wade F. Richardson, Louisville, all deputy game wardens, gathered at Mammoth Cave last Tuesday morning, where they prepared for the start. They had a motorboat, The Gypsy. Early Tuesday they set out in the boat for their trip up Green river.

Covering both sides of the shore the men searched for nets and seines. Upon finding these articles the deputies drove the boat to the shore and built fires with them. Most of their work in destroying the nets and seines was carried on at night and several times the deputies had thrilling experiences.

Once during a raid on a fishing camp in which there were several hundred dollars' worth of the fishing tackle, the deputies said they had to draw guns to get to their boat. At Spottsville, a village near the mouth of Green river, word had been sent before them to fishermen, and the deputies missed destroying a large number of seines and nets. During the raid they estimated that about 200 nets and seines were burned.

On Pond river, a branch of Green river, near Calhoun, Ky., more than a freight carload of nets were destroyed. The deputies will continue with their work of destroying nets, and next week it is understood, will search the Ohio river. All streams and rivers throughout the State will be searched, the deputies said.

Wholesale violations of the game and fish law resulted in the raid. The law provides that fishing with nets or seines is contrary to the statute, and fishing can be done only with hooks and lines or with apparatus with hooks attached.

Two years ago the deputies, in a raid covering hundreds of miles, burned more than 800 nets or seines.

To Aid Tobacco Farmers.
Prof. F. J. Walz, Louisville, Ky., Director of the Kentucky State Weather Service and United States Weather Forecaster at Louisville announced the other day the Government is preparing to establish a special weather service for the tobacco farmers of Kentucky.

A feature of the service will be the issuance of frost and flood warnings to tobacco growers. Prof. Walz says it will be the aim of the department to give warnings at least 24 hours in advance in order that the growers may protect their growing crops.

A HURRIED VISIT OF OCEAN WASP

A German U-Boat Comes and Goes Quickly.

AMAZEMENT OVER THE AFFAIR

Spent Three Hours Here, After Nosing Past U. S. Fleet and Enemy Patrol.

ACTED RATHER INDEPENDENT

Newport, R. I., Oct. 7.—Seventeen days from Wilhelmshaven, the Imperial Germany submarine U-53, dropped anchor in Newport harbor to-day. Almost before the officers of the American fleet of warships, through which the stranger had nosed her way, had recovered from their astonishment, she, in defiance fighter had delivered a message for the German Ambassador, and, weighing anchor, turned Brenton's Reef lighthouse and disappeared beneath the waves just inside the three-mile limit. As she came and went, she flew the black and white colors of the German navy, a gun was mounted on the forward deck and another aft, while eight torpedoes, plainly visible under the forward deck, gave mute assurance that the warship was ready for a fight.

Lieut. Capt. Hans Rose, who hung up a new world's record in bringing an armed submarine in battle array across the Atlantic, said that he had called at Newport simply to mail a letter to Count von Bernstorff. He required neither provisions nor fuel and would be on his way, he said, long before the twenty-four hours during which a belligerent ship may remain within a neutral harbor had expired.

The submarine was in American waters a little more than three hours, assuming that she continued to sea after submerging. Within that time the German commander paid official visits to Rear Admiral Austin M. Knight, commandant of the Second naval district, and Rear Admiral Gleaves, commander of the destroyer force of the Atlantic fleet, who was on board the flagship, the scout cruiser Birmingham. Both American officers returned the brief call promptly.

While these formalities were being exchanged, wireless messages were passing to the ships of the British and French patrol fleet off the coast, and warning that a hostile submarine had slipped through their cordon and might be expected in the open sea soon.

At the forts and the naval station, the feat of Capt. Hans Rose, which took them by surprise, was the one topic of conversation to-night, and there was much speculation as to her mission and whether it was confined to the postage of a letter to the German embassy.

There were rumors, without apparent basis, that the German merchant submarine Bremen, long overdue, might be expected in the wake of the warship. Some naval officers expressed the opinion that the fighter had escorted the Bremen across the ocean, and others that she was searching for the merchant ship. The first question asked by Capt. Rose when a motorboat came alongside was: "Have you heard from the Bremen?"

When he was told that there was no news of the missing craft his face became grave, but he made no comment.

To the naval men generally the most interesting fact disclosed by Capt. Rose was that he had been at sea seventeen days and still had provisions for three months, abundant fuel and needed no repairs. Not so much as a bottle of water was taken aboard, and the ship was spick and span.

SUES FOR $10,000 BECAUSE HE FOUND NAILS IN SHOES

Superior, Wis., Oct. 9.—J. F. Kerwin is suing a shoe merchant here for $10,000. He says he bought a pair of shoes with the understanding that they had full sewed soles, but it turned out they were nailed. His foot was scratched and infection set in. The case has already been in the Supreme Court on demurrer and sent back for retrial.

HISTORY OF THE MEXICAN MATTER

Going Back Into Republican Policy.

HOW TAFT MET THE TROUBLE

Very Much Like Wilson Has—Inherited From Republican Administrations.

WELL WORTH READING ABOUT

In the minds of Republican politicians and editors there is considerable confusion with respect to modern American-Mexican history. Some of them seem to think that the Mexican problem is the creation of the Democratic administration—that it is a "Wilson problem." The truth is it is America's problem, and it was as much a Taft problem as it has been a Wilson problem, and in the event of Mr. Hughes' election it would be a Hughes problem. It is very likely that as Mr. Wilson handled the problem much as Mr. Taft did, Mr. Hughes' method of handling it would not differ materially from that of Mr. Wilson.

Let us take a glance at the record. Mr. Taft became President on March 4, 1909. Within twenty months after Mr. Taft's inauguration, trouble in serious form broke out in Mexico, and during all of the balance of his administration, this trouble continued.

On November 8, 1910, there was rioting in Mexico City. The American flag was destroyed, the windows of American residences and business houses were broken. A street car containing American school children was stoned and the son of the United States Ambassador was assaulted. These disturbances continued during November 9th.

On November 10th there was rioting in Guadalajara. The American flag was burned and windows of American banks and stores were broken. These disturbances continued two or three days.

On November 10, 1910, there was rioting at various points in Mexico. American consulates were wrecked and the records of the consulates were destroyed.

On November 18, 1910, the Madero revolution broke out and from that date on there was general disorder in Mexico.

On March 7, 1911, twenty thousand United States regulars were mobilized along the Mexican border.

On April 13, 1911, Mexican forces took Agua Prieta, opposite Douglas, Arizona. In Douglas, Arizona, three Americans were killed and five were wounded.

On April 4, 1911, Mexicans again attacked Agua Prieta, half the town of Douglas, Arizona, was under fire of Mexican guns. On that occasion seven Americans were wounded. Governor Sloan of Arizona called upon President Taft for the protection of Americans. The President replied declining to take military action.

On October 10 and 11, 1911, Mexican rebels attacked and captured Juarez. One thousand American troops patrolled the American border and in El Paso, Texas, five Americans were killed and seventeen wounded.

On May 12, 1911, Secretary of State Knox sent to Mexico City a note denying that the United States intended to intervene.

On March 29, 1912, rifles were sent to the American legation in Mexico City for the protection of American citizens. American colonists in Northern Mexico flocked across the border, and there was great damage to American property by the Mexican mobs.

On April 14, 1912, the State Department warned Madero and Orozco against further outrages to American lives and property.

That all occurred prior to the Presidential election of 1912.

On December 4, 1912, President Taft, in a message to Congress described his Mexican policy, which was practically the same as Mr. Wilson's has been, and he called it

WHY YOU ARE NERVOUS

The nervous system is the alarm system of the human body. In perfect health we hardly realize that we have a network of nerves, but when health is ebbing, when strength is declining, the same nervous system gives the alarm in headaches, tiredness, dreamful sleep, irritability and unless corrected, leads straight to a breakdown. To correct nervousness, Scott's Emulsion is exactly what you should take; its rich nutrient gets into the blood and rich blood feeds the tiny nerve-cells while the whole system responds to its refreshing tonic force. It is free from alcohol. Scott & Bowne, Bloomfield, N. J.

the policy of "patient non-intervention."

On February 9, 1913, there was an uprising against the Mexican government in Mexico City. Many days of street fighting followed. Several hundred Mexican civilians were killed, including two American women.

It was in February, during President Taft's administration, that Madero was killed and Huerta demanded recognition; but there was no recognition of Huerta and no intervention under the Taft administration.

On March 15, 1911, a few days more than two years after President Taft was inaugurated and about two years before his term expired, President Taft addressed a letter to the chief of staff, and in that letter he declined to do the very things Republicans are now denouncing President Wilson for not doing.

Following is an extract from President Taft's letter:

"The assumption by the press that I contemplate intervention on Mexican soil to protect American lives or property, is of course gratuitous, because I seriously doubt whether I have such authority. . . . Indeed, as you know, I have already declined, without Mexican consent, to order a troop of cavalry to protect the breakwater we are constructing just across the border in Mexico at the mouth of the Colorado river to save the Imperial Valley, although the insurgents have scattered the Mexican troops and were taking our horses and supplies and frightening our workmen away."

On April 17, 1911, the Governor of Arizona sent a telegram to the President, reading in part as follows:

"As a result of to-day's fighting across the international line, but within gunshot range of the heart of Douglas, five Americans were wounded on this side of the line. . . . In my judgment radical measures are needed to protect our innocent people. . . . It will be impossible to safeguard the people of Douglas unless the town be vacated."

To this telegram President Taft replied as follows:

"The situation might justify me in ordering our troops across the border. . . . but if I take this step, I must face the possibility of greater resistance and greater bloodshed, and also the danger of having our motives misconstrued and misrepresented, and of thus inflaming Mexican popular indignation. . . . It is impossible to foresee or reckon the consequences of such a course; and we must use the greatest self-restraint to avoid it. I cannot therefore order the troops at Douglas to cross the border, but I must ask you and the local authorities in case the same danger occurs, to direct the people of Douglas to place themselves where bullets cannot reach them, and thus avoid casualty."

The only difference between the Wilson policy and the Taft policy was that Mr. Wilson called it "watchful waiting," while Mr. Taft called it "patient non-intervention." (See Message 1912.)

On November 26, 1910, the Outlook, which became famous by reason of the fact that Theodore Roosevelt was its contributing editor, had an editorial calling attention to "the anti-American demonstrations which have lately taken place in Mexico," in which "great demonstrations were made, mobs broke windows in buildings, occupied by Americans, attacked newspaper offices favorable to Americans and attacked street cars containing Americans."

On March 25, 1911, the Outlook said that "events in Mexico are very confusing" and on April 22, it declared that Mexico presented "a serious state of affairs."

It was on April 29, 1911, that Senator Stone, a Democrat, insisted that President Taft be authorized to employ whatever force might be necessary to restore order in Mexico. Senator Root, now one of President Wilson's most bitter critics, said that a threat of force would be "to reverse the policy of the United States and take a step backward in the path of civilization."

Senator Lodge, Republican, and another bitter critic of the Wilson administration, said that President Taft would not ask for force until our diplomatic methods had failed.

It was on April 29, 1911, during the Taft administration, that the New York American (Hearst's) said "through a lagged and chicken-hearted President, American threats of intervention have become the laughing stock of the insurgents and regulars alike."

It was in February, 1913, during the Taft administration, that the New York American (Hearst's) referring to the Mexican situation, said "One hundred or more of American citizens have been slain" and it asked "Does anyone think that Germany would have endured this outrage for a day? Does any man believe that English warships would not already be bombarding Vera Cruz for a similar outrage upon English citizens?"

The Mexican situation under the Taft administration was so serious that in its issue of September 21, 1912, the Baton Rouge, La., Times said: "The American flag is only a rag in Mexico." El Paso, Texas, and other border papers expressed similar sentiments.

All of which goes to show that the Mexican problem is an American problem rather than a Democratic problem and that it was as much a problem under Taft as it is under Wilson, and would be as much a problem under Hughes as under Wilson or Taft.

OPEN LETTER TO HUGHES.

Dear Mr. Hughes:
You'll please excuse
My dullness if I seem obtuse,
Or fail to properly enthuse,
When you break loose.

The papers give me all the news
And more advice than I can use;
But when I try to get your views
On public questions, then I lose
My patience, and I sigh and muse:
"Oh, what's the use!"

I give the devil all his dues;
I rather liked you, Mr. Hughes,
When you were judge. But when you choose

To be a knocker and abuse
Our President, I must refuse
To read your "ooze."

The Democrats you still accuse;
Your lamentations I peruse.
These may alarm—they can't amuse.
And thinking men they won't confuse;

But altogether, Brother Hughes,
You're too profuse.

One final word before adieu:
If you would stand in Wilson's shoes
You'll have to try some other use—
For, by the gods, you're going to lose!

The Republican party will set its dues;
You're up against it, Mr. Hughes.

THREE MARRIAGES OCCUR AND NO CHANGE OF NAME

Columbus, Ind., Oct. 6.—John W. Wagner and Mrs. Elizabeth Wagner were married here. The maiden name of the bride's mother was Wagner, the mother married a Wagner, the daughter's first husband's name was Wagner, and thus the mother was married once and the daughter twice without the change of any names.

No Need To Be Idle.

The Boston Journal has been watching the newspaper advertisements and has come to the conclusion that there are 10,000 jobs offered daily and only 2,000 persons advertise for jobs. It also says that there is a shortage of labor, both skilled and unskilled, while there are numerous clerks and people of similar occupations out of work. However, the supply of clerks, &c., would be still greater if it were not for the fact that many such are now employed as unskilled laborers; in Berkshire they are found doing road work even, and many more people of this class would take up manual labor now if they were physically able to stand the strain. The able-bodied men need not be idle these days. —[Pittsfield (Mass.) Eagle.]

Sloan's Liniment For Neuralgia Aches.

The dull throb of neuralgia is quickly relieved by Sloan's Liniment, the universal remedy for pain. Easy to apply; it quickly penetrates without rubbing and soothes the sore muscles. #### Resourceful Hulda.

Hulda's mistress often boasts of her readiness of resource. "She's the best nurse maid in the world," is the enthusiastic commendation from her employer. "One day I returned from a motor trip through the park to be met with the startling news that the baby had swallowed a button."

"And what did you do, Hulda?" I asked, in some anxiety, although trusting that it had been the right thing.

"Why," said Hulda, "I made him swallow a buttonhole right away!"

Tanlac, The Great New Medicine, Sweeps Over Nations. Merit Wins And Multitudes Give It Praise

"Made Me Younger"—"Put Me Back on The Payroll"—"Gave Me New Life"—In The Thousands of Endorsements Given Master Medicine.

This is Tanlac Week.
More than seven million five hundred thousand bottles of Tanlac have been sold in the United States in the two years since the first bottle was sold.

That fact alone is sufficient explanation why Tanlac Week should now be celebrated in cities throughout the United States. The tremendous and unprecedented success of Tanlac could not have been achieved without true merit. The 8,000 druggists who are giving Tanlac their renewed endorsements by special displays this week know that they have behind them the unqualified endorsement of Tanlac by millions of satisfied customers.

No other medicine has ever had the same success that Tanlac has won as a tonic, appetizer, invigorant and revitalizer. Its fame was instantaneous and it spread through the country until today it is known everywhere as The Master Medicine.

True Worth Explains Success

Tanlac's success is easily explained—true worth. The tens of thousands of men and women who have endorsed it praise it because they are grateful for the relief Tanlac has given them.

To suffer from sleeplessness, indigestion, nervousness, rheumatism, belching and bloating from gas, dizziness and biliousness, kidney and liver troubles, pains in the stomach, the back and the head for years, and then to get relief through a tonic that is pleasant to take, gentle and gradual in its results, renewing the appetite, aiding assimilation, and restoring health, vigor, ambition and strength, is enough to make people grateful.

Tens of thousands of people have said that Tanlac is the Master Medicine. Tanlac Week therefore means something to them.

Endorsements Are Remarkable

Some of the endorsements of Tanlac are remarkable. They show that taking Tanlac was a profitable investment for sick, weak, nervous, run-down men and women—profitable in more than one way. Some of the praise of Tanlac is in phrases that are written over and over.

"I feel like a new man"—"Tanlac has put me back on the payroll"—"I never lay off from my work since I took Tanlac"—"I do twice as much work as I used to"—"Tanlac has made me feel twenty years younger"—"I wake up in the morning feeling fine now."

Many women have written, "I have my natural color back since I took Tanlac"—"I feel like a girl again"—"My neighbors ask me what I have done to look so young and my answer is Tanlac"—"I feel like a different woman; my housework is a pleasure since I took Tanlac."

Those are some of the expressions which tens of thousands of men and women have used, in statements praising Tanlac.

Tanlac Meets a Need

Prepared from a secret formula, purely vegetable and absolutely free from mineral taint, Tanlac has met the need of a great reconstructive tonic to feed while it heals sick, sore stomachs; to promote digestion, aid assimilation, induce healthy and normal function of the digestive apparatus, and to build up health and strength in a natural way.

Throughout the vast world Nature has placed remedies for the healing of the nations. In Tanlac the best of them are merged for a sensible, reliable remedy. In Tanlac nature offers the great natural remedy for the everyday ills from which millions of men and women suffer.

The ingredients or medicinal elements which make Tanlac come from far separated sections of the globe. It is as though Nature, planting her gardens in every zone of the vast world, permitted man to select the best for compounding into a great remedy. Man has spared no expense or labor to get these best ingredients.

Now a Household Remedy

Roots, herbs and barks best suited to a great tonic are used in the making of Tanlac. They are selected scientifically and blended with care. In order to insure a supply of them for Tanlac, The Cooper Medicine Company bought large amounts of certain ingredients. Ten tons of one ingredient were bought on one order.

Tanlac's success, starting so quickly, is lasting. It has become a household remedy and is in two million homes because it is the great medicine which Nature offers from her best products.

Millions of people know this and Tanlac therefore is praised everywhere as The National Tonic—the upbuilder of health and strength through the stomach, blood and nerves.

DEMOCRATIC TICKET.

For President—Woodrow Wilson.
For Vice Pres't.—T. R. Marshall
For Congress—Hon. Ben Johnson.

The spectacle of the wives of New York millionaires going across the country in a luxuriously furnished and specially appointed train, urging the voters to support Hughes, is one which will be taken note of by the common people in a way not calculated to help the cause of the rich ladies. It simply shows just who is supporting Candidate Hughes and why the "business" men of Wall Street want to defeat Wilson.

On the second page of The Herald to-day will be found a rather detailed history of the Mexican trouble from a politically impartial standpoint. It relates incidents which have transpired with this troublesome neighbor of ours in recent years and robs the subject of its political aspect as associated with the administration of President Wilson or his immediate predecessors in office. Read it—for information and not to bias your mind in any way.

It is very evident that there is much money being used by the Republican campaign managers but there is consolation in the fact that there is a class of men—honest, conscientious, hard-thinking men—that money cannot buy. The just-before-election methods of Republican managers have always involved the free use of hoodlum, with which they are supplied by the "powers higher up" in apparently unlimited quantities. It is this sort of thing that Democrats have to fight by putting in harder liks.

The Clayton Anti-Trust law was passed with the endorsement of President Wilson, who has ever been found opposed to trust methods and trust procedures, which always menace the welfare of the workingman. This law makes it plain that the courts must treat labor as a part of a man's every-day life and not as a commodity, and that he should be given the right of trial by jury instead of being subject to the arbitrary rulings of a judge in injunction cases. Every laboring man should remember this.

Commencing with the number for November, issued the latter part of this month, a new periodical will enter the literary field, to be known as The Kentucky Magazine. Mr. Webster P. Huntington will be its editor and its offices will be at 510 Republic Building, Louisville. It will be primarily a State magazine, exploiting our progress in all material interests, but it will embody the best attainable in literature, science, and all that goes to make up a first-class periodical of its kind. Such a journal will meet a hearty welcome and should be well patronized.

The Republican spellbinders are laying great stress on the assertion that after the war our nation will be greatly in need of a protective tariff. Why is so much emphasis placed on the "after the war" phase of the matter? Why was a Republican protective tariff necessary in the many long years preceding the European war and before the latter was even thought of? To protect the opulent manufacturers, of course! How and why will these barons of wealth need "protection" after the war? It's simply a campaign appeal to the American voter who ought to and does know better.

It is less than a month now until election day. Let these few remaining days be spent by all Democrats in loyal work for their party's ticket. A few good words spoken for the party or its candidates bespeak an evident interest taken and often help when least expected. Every man has his influence for somebody in some way. Let there be ceaseless work for the Democratic party and there will be no interruption of the patriotic program mapped out by the greatest of Presidents who has during one of the most difficult periods of the country's history, steered the Ship of State with steady hand and courageous heart.

There has been organized in several counties in the Fourth District a Young Men's Democratic Club. This Club is composed of ten or twelve live, active young men in each precinct in the county. The purpose of the organization is to get the young men in the county interested in the election of President Wilson and Mr. Johnson. It is the intention to have two of these young men stationed at each poll on the day of election with a complete list of the voters of that precinct. They will then be able to see that every Democratic voter in the precinct gets to the polls and votes. Who will volunteer for this important work in Ohio county?

A few days ago President Wilson was in receipt of a telegram from the president of an organization calling itself the American Truth Society of New York, accusing Mr. Wilson of being pro-British and saying he had failed to obtain compliance with American rights. To this the President replied:

"Your telegram received. I would feel deeply mortified to have you or anybody like you vote for me. Since you have access to many disloyal Americans and I have not, I will ask you to convey this message to them."

Candidate Hughes would not have replied in such language for his right hand. He is too anxious for the disloyal American vote to utter a word of protest over such detestable conduct. Vote for the man who is not afraid to speak out.

AN INFAMOUS CIRCULAR

There is being circulated among the negroes of Ohio county—and of course promiscuously throughout the State—a circular or 8-page folder, having for its caption "President Wilson and the Negro," which for lying statements and dirty campaign blackmail, equals or surpasses anything of the kind (and there have been quite a number) ever seen here. This folder (about) in so many false statements and groundless charges, that it is issued anonymously, having no signature attached or place of issuance indicated. The author's name is kept hidden. Of course it is really "daddled" by Republican campaign managers, but evidently they were ashamed to acknowledge it as their output. In the main it is a dastardly and cowardly attack upon the personality and public record of President Wilson. Among its many false and groundless paragraphs are the following:

"What the Negroes living in the border States, and even those who live at the north, have most to fear is a Democratic administration directed by a man of southern birth, and one so inured to southern racial prejudice as Woodrow Wilson. This is not so much a prophecy as it is a concrete fact, proven by years of Democratic reprisals against the constitutional rights of the colored citizens. Placing a ban upon the progress of the Negro race is the ONLY policy to which the Wilson administration has consistently adhered and the only one that has been successful. The President has succeeded in undoing in three years what the Republican party has been fifty years accomplishing for the advancement and recognition of the rights of the colored citizens."

"He celebrated his entrance to the White House by closing the door of opportunity to the Negro. By word and deed he has lent encouragement to the enemies of the race and fostered a racial prejudice greater than has ever been known in this country. * * * There has never been a President who descended from his lofty position to retard the progress of a struggling race as Woodrow Wilson has done. His education has failed to prove a foil for his prejudice. He has used the power of his great office to place obstacles in the path of progress as the Republican party laid it out for the Negro. Throughout the country colored men have been astounded and discouraged by the bitterness of the opposition of the Chief Executive of the nation, and the enemies of the race in and out of Congress have taken heart to levy additional reprisals against the hopes of the race."

We have no fear that this dirty dodger will do President Wilson any harm in this section. Well informed and self-respecting negroes will have nothing to do with it nor will they countenance any such methods used to get their votes against President Wilson, who has done nothing in his official life or otherwise to retard the progress and advancement of the negro race. But this folder serves as a sample of the methods practiced by Republican politicians at election times to prejudice and inflame the minds of colored men against the Democrats, who have been the best friends—especially in the South—that the negro ever had, when it comes to helping the latter in a material way.

REPUBLICAN SPEAKER REVERSES UTTERANCES

Mr. W. E. Andrews, a former Assistant Auditor of the U. S. Treasury, a Republican "spellbinder," said in a speech at the court house here on the 2d inst., "the boasts of Congressmen Johnson having saved the Government great sums of money was largely political talk." He stated that no large sums of money had been returned to the Treasury by Johnson when he left the Treasury Department in 1915. It so happened that this same Andrews spoke at Bardstown, the home of Mr. Johnson, on the following Friday where he knew the facts were too well known to undertake this, and there he admitted that Mr. Johnson had had large sums of money returned to the United States Treasury, but said that ought not to have any effect because Johnson had voted for an appropriation bill in Congress that carried over a hundred million more than the Republicans had ever appropriated by a similar bill. That, of course, was no excuse, for everybody at all posted, knows this bill was supported by nearly every member of Congress, both Democrats and Republicans, as a "preparedness measure," made necessary by the neglect of former Congresses when the Republicans were in control. The fact is, Ben Johnson has made the best Representative the Fourth Congressional District has ever had, and that is saying a whole lot, but is true nevertheless.

Without fear of contradiction we again say that Mr. Johnson has dug up and had returned to the United States Treasury nearly or quite two million dollars wrongly held by big interests in the District of Columbia. We might go further and say that we believe that certain big interests now have thousands of dollars in this district to try to defeat Mr. Johnson, but it won't avail anything, for the voters of the Fourth district realize the value of Mr. Johnson's services too well to make any change now.

CONGRESSIONAL VOTE OF MUCH IMPORTANCE

The election of a Democratic President will not be of much avail unless he is supported by a Democratic Congress. Therefore, it is of the greatest importance that the Democratic nominees for Congress shall be elected. Fortunately there is little danger of the defeat of any of the present incumbents of the office in this State and there will be none if the Democrats do their duty. There is no question of the result in the First, Second, Fourth, Sixth, Seventh, Eighth and Ninth, but the Republicans are making extravagant claims in the Third and Fifth, but with little to back them. Democrats, in order to make assurance doubly sure, must not fail to go to the polls and stamp under the rooster, which will insure their votes for the Presidential electors and make certain the election of the present delegation—A. W. Barkley, D. W. Kincheloe, R. Y. Thomas, Ben Johnson, Swager Sherley, A. B. Rouse, J. C. Cantrell, Harvey Helm and W. J. Fields, whose services entitle them to reward.

J. H. CHOATE'S TRIBUTE TO PRESIDENT WILSON

Noted Republican's Praise Of President Endorsed By Review's Editor.

Joseph H. Choate, ambassador to Great Britain in the McKinley and Roosevelt administrations, an ex-president of the American Bar Association, and long a leader of the American bar, and a leading Republican, writing in the Review of Reviews for January, 1915, paid high tribute to Wilson's administration policies growing out of the war. He said:

"If we can maintain our neutrality and keep out of this war and at the same time prove ourselves friendly to all the nations engaged in it—as I think we shall under the wise and prudent conduct of President Wilson—the United States will, I believe, not only be called into consultation by the warring nations, when they are no longer able to keep up the fight, but will practically be able to dictate the terms of peace between them, one of which must, if possible, be an effectual guarantee against any further outbreak of the horrible spirit of militarism which has caused the present war."

"And I am encouraged in this belief by reading the recent message of President Wilson and the annual reports of the Secretaries of War and of the Navy, which taken together, appear to show a steadfast determination on the part of our Federal Government to have us prepared always for effectual self-defense, which is a necessary condition of our national existence."

"Of course, the end of the war will see us by far the most powerful nation in the world, and if the policy pointed out by Secretary Daniels is pursued, we shall perhaps in the fullness of time become ourselves the mistress of the seas without incurring hostility or attack from any nation, and shall be the great factor of preserving universal peace."

Commenting editorially on Mr. Choate's letter, the editor of the Review of Reviews says:

"Surely, there is no more approved friend of international peace in our country than the Hon. Joseph H. Choate. Read, then, what he writes in this number of the Review on our need of efficient means of national defense. He is in perfect agreement with what President Wilson has set forth in his message to Congress of December 8. For our part, President Wilson's words seem statesmanlike and noble. They are wholly compatible with strict and efficient attention to the business of getting the best results out of the vast expenditures for army and navy that are met by the tax-payers."

"WILSON DAY" OCT. 28 THROUGHOUT NATION

"Woodrow Wilson Day" will be observed throughout the United States on Saturday, Oct. 28, according to an announcement made yesterday by Chairman McCormick of the Democratic National Committee. On that day the President will address to the people of the country a message on "Americanism," in which he will point out anew his convictions as to the position this nation should maintain in the present world crisis.

"It is the plan," Chairman McCormick said last evening, "to hold meetings all over the country, at which the message from the President will be read."

Chairmen of the Democratic State Committees in the various States will co-operate with the County Chairmen in arranging for meetings on "Woodrow Wilson Day," with speakers of prominence.

"This message," it was announced at Democratic national headquarters, "is to be a proclamation of Americanism, which will be read by a prominent citizen in each community. It is planned to have this a day on which all citizens will pay their respects to the President of the United States."

This message, it is asserted, will be "a proclamation of the new freedom."—[New York World.]

Elopes With 14-Year-Old Girl. Morgantown, W. Va., Oct. 7.—Although Albert Liberator succeeded in eloping to Maryland and marrying Stella, fourteen-year-old daughter of Frank Brewer, of this city, in the face of the father's opposition, he has lost his bride. Don't fail to come; don't fail to bring your wives and children, your boys and girls, and let us have a rally that is a rally.

The Equity Man has had most excellent luck with the Equity pool. Three more days next week—Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday—will give us in this county, right around 600,000 pounds. And we have a buyer already for a million pounds. THE EQUITY MAN.

One good turn deserves another. Help others, and others will help themselves.

FISCAL COURT NOTES.

The Ohio County Fiscal Court was in session three days last week, beginning Wednesday morning, being the regular October term, with Judge Jno. B. Wilson presiding, County Attorney C. M. Crowe, and the following Justices present: R. C. Tichenor, S. L. Fulkerson, B. W. Taylor, S. W. Leach, W. S. Dean, B. F. Rice, Ed. Shown and Winson Smith.

Aside from the regular routine of business the following orders were entered:

Order giving contractors authority to close the Hartford and Centertown public road from the street limits to Tichenor's stable on pike until Nov. 4th. Likewise gave notice of road being open for travel through the bottoms south of pike.

Sum of $300 appropriated to Kentucky Children's Home Society at Louisville, Ky., to assist in the support of the 19 children sent to this institution from Ohio county since January 4, 1914.

On motion of Esq. S. W. Leach, seconded by Esq. B. F. Rice, the office of County Road Engineer for Ohio county was discontinued from and after October 7, 1916, and this court appoints no County Road Engineer. Prior to this action County Judge Jno. B. Wilson appointed Mr. Homer Milligan, of Smallhouse, who held a certificate of qualification from the State Board as Road Engineer and his appointee failed of ratification by a strict political party vote—3 Democrats for and 5 Republicans against.

Farmers' Meeting Saturday.

Notice to farmers of Ohio county, Ky.: The County Union of the American Society of Equity is called to meet at Hartford, Ky., on Saturday, October 14, 1916, at 10 o'clock a. m. Every local in the county is requested to be represented with a full delegation, as there is much and very important business to transact, especially on the tobacco question. Everybody is invited to attend this meeting and those wishing to deliver their tobacco at Hartford and have not already signed their tobacco, should be there and hear the questions discussed and sign their tobacco with the A. S. of E., the organization that brought relief to the farmer. Come, everybody, and bring your wives. Don't forget the date. J. S. CECIL, J. R. WELLER, County Committee.

Public Road Working.

On Tuesday and Wednesday, Oct. 24 and 25, the people on the southern side of the county will devote their time, teams and tools to improving the road for two or three miles from Borah's Ferry to the end of the new pike towards Beaver Dam. This section has been surveyed by the State engineer and all work done these two days will be of much assistance to the county and hasten the time when it can be picked. It is expected that the right-of-way will be cleared and fencing set back before that day. This is one of the most important roads in the county, being made 40 feet wide and with easy grades. Everybody invited to co-operate.

Remember the date next Saturday, October 14th, and go out and hear Hon. Ben Johnson either at Horse Branch or Centertown. He will discuss the political issues at Horse Branch at 12:30 p. m., Centertown at night.

Alfred Finley Held To Answer. Alfred Finley and Osary Malone, charged with horse stealing, mention of which appeared in these columns last week, were taken before Judge Jno. B. Wilson last Monday for examining trial. After hearing the evidence Finley was held to answer to Circuit Court. On motion of County Attorney C. M. Crowe an order was entered directing that Malone, who is only 13 years of age, be sent to the School of Reform. He will be taken there by Sheriff S. O. Keown next Saturday.

WANTED.

I want to rent a good farm (well improved) from one to five years. Good team. Sept. 22, 1916. JOSEPH SCHROADER, 3914 Livermore, Ky.

One bay horse, 10 years old, about 15½ hands high, saddle and harness. Will sell at very reasonable price at once. Call on or address REV. BIRCH SHIELDS, Beaver Dam, Ky.

His Latest Trick.

"What became of that rock-theat fool friend of yours?" "He's got a new trick now. He rides a motorcycle and tries to see how small a break in the traffic he can dash through."

The truth may be mighty, but sometimes it has to leak out.

BEAVER DAM.

Oct. 9.—Beaver Dam was well entertained last week in the way of lectures and plays. Tuesday afternoon Prof. Green, of Bowling Green, gave a lecture on education. Quite a crowd was present to hear him. The Goshen school attended in a body and Miss Irene Taylor, teacher at Taylor Mines, also brought her school in a body. He was assisted by Supt. Ozna Shults. Friday evening Hon. Mr. Garrett, of Tennessee, gave the voters a short talk in the interest of the Democratic party. At the conclusion of his speech the Methodist Ladies Aid entertained the good people with a play for the benefit of their church. Saturday evening Hon. T. J. Sparks, of Greenville, made a talk in the interest of the Republican party. The last performance was the moving picture show. So if any one wants to see the bright side of life they would do well to visit Beaver Dam. Politics is at a low ebb in this vicinity, as neither speaker had a large crowd to hear him.

Mr. W. R. Gray, Union neighborhood, was badly mashed up at Taylor Mines last Wednesday. He was taking a load of baled hay to Mr. Joe Reid. In driving under the shed of the barn he was caught between the load of hay and shed. It was thought by Drs. McKenney and Joe Taylor that his back was broken, but later the hurt was found not so bad and at present he is improving and will be able to be taken home in a few days.

Mr. Zeke Taylor, of Bowling Green, has been in town this week, shaking hands with old friends.

Mr. Orval Taylor and wife motored to Fort Dodge, Iowa, the first of September to visit his wife's parents. His car registered 800 miles from Beaver Dam to that city. Mr. Taylor has returned but will go back to Fort Dodge in his car, as he has some work to do there.

The little 6-year-old daughter of Mr. Otto Kimbly, of Taylor Mines, died last Tuesday of scarlet fever and was buried in Taylor Mines cemetery Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Estill Arbuckle spent last week visiting her brother, Willie Coleman, at Beech Grove, Ky.

We received a copy of the Herrin Journal containing the death of Mrs. Maude Chapman, wife of Mr. W. F. Chapman, of that city, which occurred October 4th. They had lived most of their married life in Green Brier neighborhood and were therefore well acquainted in this county. Her trouble was appendicitis.

We received a letter from our dear old comrade L. T. Reid, of Rockport, telling us of his sad bereavement over the loss of his daughter, Mrs. Georgia Reid Her, of that town, who died October 6th and was buried October 7, 1916. Mr. and Mrs. Reid have our sympathy in their deep sorrow.

Rev. Samuel E. Harlan. Rev. Harlan, who is pastor of the First Christian Church of Hartford, is now spending his vacation conducting a meeting at Eckerty, Ind. There will be no preaching at the church here until the third and fourth Sundays in November.

Recently Rev. Harlan was recalled to his pastorate here by a unanimous vote of the board, whose members expressed entire satisfaction with his efficient services in the past.

CRETE HAS LONG HELD
BIG PLACE IN HISTORYApostle Paul Contended That It
Was Inhabited By a Set Of Liars.

Washington, Oct. 7.—The present revolt in Crete has occurred almost on the fourth anniversary of the announcement of the island's annexation to Greece, made by the Greek premier on October 14, 1912. Up to that time the Cretans had been in an almost constant state of revolt against Turkish and Egyptian domination, for the greater part of the Nineteenth and the first decade of the Twentieth century. To-day's war geography bulletin of the National Geographic Society tells of the resources of this revolt-riven region:

"Crete and Corsica are practically tied for the distinction of fourth island of the Mediterranean, each having an area somewhat in excess of 3,300 square miles and being surpassed in size by Sicily, Sardinia and Cyprus. But while Corsica has sustained a comparatively inconspicuous role in world history, if one excepts the fact that it was the birthplace of Napoleon, Crete has played a stellar part in human events for more than 4,000 years.

"Oblong in shape, with a length of 160 miles and a width varying from six to thirty-five miles, the rugged island lies equidistant from Europe, Asia and Africa. Its northern coast is greatly indented, and while the anchorage is too shallow for modern steamers in all save one of its ports, in ancient times many of its 100 flourishing cities of which Homer spoke were regularly visited by the light-draft vessels of the Phoenicians, the Greeks and the Egyptians.

"Crete to-day sustains a population of about 350,000, more than nine-tenths of whom are Christians and the remaining tenth largely Mohammedans. Much of its land is bare and stony, and the forests of cypress, which were once its glory, have almost disappeared. Its rivers are scarcely more than mountain torrents, which rush down from snow-clad heights towering more than 8,000 feet above the sea.

"Many of the narrow valleys and a few plains are extremely fertile, however. Fruits of many varieties, especially the orange and lemon, grow luxuriantly, and the olive is one of the most valuable products of the island, the oil being used extensively in the manufacture of soap. The vines of Crete, which were noted in the Middle Ages, have deteriorated somewhat in modern times. Currants are profitably grown, but little grain is raised. The mineral resources of the island may eventually prove to be considerable, but at the present time gypsum, lime, slate and whetstone constitute the principal output, which is meager.

"St Paul in his epistle to Titus, perpetuated the indictment that 'the Cretans are always liars,' so it is not astonishing to find in the legends of the island the claim that the supreme god of the Greek world, Zeus, was a native and that he was nursed by nymphs on the slopes of the famous Mt. Ida. He was even

UNION ORGANIZATION
NOT TO BE RECOGNIZED

Central City, Ky., Oct. 7.—The Central Coal and Iron Company, operating the DuPont mines at this place, has posted notices that its mines will resume work Tuesday, October 10, under a contract with the Southern Miners' Association, recently organized at this place. The United Mine Workers of America will not be recognized as an organization, but members of that union may work by joining the new organization.

The organization of the Southern Miners' Association is a result of last spring's deliberations over wage disputes with the Western Kentucky Operators' Association. The national officers would not give the miners financial assistance, it is said, when they voted down the operators' proposition for a settlement. The miners claim they paid into the national organization's treasury thousands of dollars for the benefit of striking miners in other districts, and that so far they have never been able to obtain any relief when standing out for their rights.

IN BEATING HER SPOUSE

Lexington, Ky., Oct. 6.—A woman has a right to protect her home, Police Judge J. J. Riley ruled here, in dismissing Mrs. Lula Davis, who used a broom to chastise her husband after she had broken a window to get at him last night. Judge Riley's verdict was:

"When a woman follows her husband to the home of another, enters by force, beats up her spouse and removes him by force, she is employing legitimate means to preserve the honor of her family."

He refused even to exact a peace bond of her.

SPECIAL NOTICE
In regard to
OBITUARIES, RESOLUTIONS
OF RESPECT, &c.

The Hartford Herald has adopted a new rule in regard to Obituaries, Resolutions of Respect, Cards of thanks, &c., whether written personally or for lodges, churches or individuals, and that is, we shall charge at the rate of five cents per line for all such articles, except obituary poetry, which will be one cent per word straight.

The amount, in cash or stamps, must accompany each article, or it will not be printed. Six words average a line in ordinary reading and every separate character or initial letter counts as a word. The heading and the signature both count one line each, even if they are only a word or two. All obituary poetry, straight through, one cent per word. This ruling applies to everybody alike, without any distinction.

An Artful Dodger.

When Candidate Hughes is cornered by questions he pretends that he does not hear them or makes equivocal reply. While he was speaking at Toledo, Ohio, the other night he was heckled by the audience and among the questions hurled at him was "What about the Danbury Hatters' case?" He said afterwards he did not hear it, but appeared to maintain his silence when told of it. This case was that in which the Supreme Court, with Justice Hughes sitting, required the unions which boycotted the manufacturers to pay them large damages because of it.

JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER
IS NOW A BILLIONAIREBoom In Standard Oil Stocks
Carries the Price Beyond
$2,000 Per Share.

The boom in Standard Oil stocks on the curb and "over the counter" recently, says the New York Times, carried prices so far forward that stock of the Standard of New Jersey as it existed before the dissolution was worth more than $2,000 a share. The highest price for the stock before the Supreme Court decree was put into effect five years ago was $750. Applying Thursday's value of old Standard Oil shares, with the equity in subsidiary companies intact, the market worth of the company's original capital stock was close to $2,000,000,000. This makes John D. Rockefeller, head of the company, easily a billionaire.

When the Government suit against the Standard Oil Company for dissolution was in its earlier stages, on September 21, 1907, the stock list of the company was made public on the witness stand. Mr. Rockefeller was shown to own 247,692 shares of stock, more than three times as much as any other holder, and more than six times as much as the next largest individual holder, two estates ranking next to him. This stock was valued at $675 a share on the day the company was broken up five years ago by the Supreme Court's decision, though at times it had sold as high as $750. The following table shows the value of Mr. Rockefeller's holdings:

Par value of John D. Rockefeller's 247,692 shares	$24,769,200.00
Value at the time of dissolution, at 675 a share	167,194,100.00
Value to-day, including subsidiaries, at $2,914.07	498,864,066.44
Increase in value of his holdings since dissolution	321,874,938.44

Mr. Rockefeller also holds vast interests in various banks and railroads, besides enormous blocks of national, State and municipal bonds. He bought $10,000,000 worth of the Anglo-French loan floated in the fall of 1915. He owns a large part, it is understood, of the stock of the United States Steel Corporation. Besides this, the Rockefellers, father and son, have given away sums estimated at nearly $200,000,000, of which about $60,000,000 has gone to the General Education Board, nearly $30,000,000 to the University of Chicago, $10,000,000 to the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research, and $6,000,000 to the Rush Medical College. About $10,000,000 has been contributed to various relief works by the Rockefeller Foundation since the war began.

HE'S A FIGHTING FIEND, AS WAS DEMONSTRATED

Ottawa, Oct. 6.—A tale of an unnamed Corporal in an Eastern Ontario battalion of the Canadian forces in France, who, single-handed, charged a party of Germans advancing to an attack, and killed or wounded all of them except one, whom he took prisoner, is related by an official Canadian "eyewitness" in a dispatch received to-day.

"The battalion to which the Corporal was attached had successfully captured a line of German trenches, when a party of the enemy, consisting of two officers and about 20 men, began a counter attack," the "eyewitness" writes: "The Corporal advanced alone against the whole party, emptied his revolver, picked up first one and then another German rifle, each of which he emptied, accounting for the two officers and 16 of the men. While he was shooting one of the officers attacked him with a bayonet and pierced him in the leg below the knee, but the Corporal shot him dead. The rest of the enemy attempted to escape. The Corporal shot four of them and made the fifth a prisoner. Although wounded in two places, he remained in the trenches until his battalion was relieved."

To Every True American

Woodrow Wilson's fight is your fight.

He has put equal justice above special privilege, human rights above property rights, national honor above organized greed, and democracy over all.

The Child Labor law, the Federal Reserve act, the Clayton Anti-Trust law, Workmen's Compensation, Rural Credits, the Shipping bill, the Federal Trade Commission, the Seamen's act, the Tariff Commission and the Agricultural Extension act may well stand as the ten commandments of America; his international policies proclaim to the world America's recovery of the ancient faith, America's renewed devotion to democratic ideals. Woodrow Wilson has given you prosperity with justice and peace with honor.

What are you giving him?

How much does it mean to you that business is no longer at the mercy of panics, that credit and enterprise have been released from captivity, that the standards of America are now the standards of civilization, and that the heart of the land is not torn by the wailing of widows and orphans, the slow shuffling of the blind and the maimed?

America today is no less a battle-ground than in 1776 and 1861, and Woodrow Wilson is no less the champion of liberty than Washington and Lincoln.

Money, however, is the present weapon. It takes cash to run a campaign.

Only from the people, the one master that he has served, can Woodrow Wilson receive campaign aid. Clean money for clean purposes.

To contribute is your duty even as it should be your privilege. Send it in now.

What one of you would not fight to defend your home and your country against foreign foes? Fight, then, against enemies within that hold greater menace than any foe without.

Do not serve notice upon all future Presidents that faithful service is folly, since the electorate is without gratitude, interest and intelligence.

Every dollar contributed is payment on America's insurance policy.

Don't let it lapse.

Even as you have received generously, give generously. Even stint to give. America was built on sacrifice.

OUR VARIED MONEY

No Two Classes Have Exactly the Same Quality or Value.

A GOLD AND SILVER COMEDY

Tribulations of a More or Less Honest Citizen Who Was Stuck With Six Trade Dollars and Who Wanted to Exchange Them For a Gold Coin.

When a new treasurer of the United States takes office his predecessor hands over to him assets to the value of billions. But it is a varied lot of securities that come into his possession—bonds, securities of all kinds, gold bars and silver coin, base metals, gold notes, silver notes, gold in the reserve fund, governmental legal tender notes, national bank notes, fractional currency and subsidiary coin.

No two classes have the same qualities, no two exactly the same value, intrinsic or otherwise. Yet people are so eager to get anything with the stamp of Uncle Sam that they accept it anywhere at its face value unless it is required for some purpose which calls for the peculiar quality of a certain kind of money.

It is a mark of confidence in Uncle Sam that his beautiful silver certificates are taken at their face value, when in reality they bear about the same relation to gold dollars as adulterated food does to pure food—only, like the adulterated foods, a certain artificial value must be given to them.

When the food adulterator turns out his product, the government, in just horror, says it is wrong to tamper with food, and the person who does it must go to jail. When Uncle Sam sends out a silver disk stamped with his mark he has made a very good business stroke, for he has placed in circulation as a dollar 56 cents' worth of silver and put 44 cents' worth of bullion into his treasurer's charge and, like the adulterated food dealer, has made a good transaction.

A poor wreck of humanity with a grateful streak in his heart not long since found himself in possession of six trade dollars. His first inclination after the shock was to buy a whole lot of bait and go away off on a fishing trip, but remembrance of his mother came over him, and, like a good fellow, he resolved to send her a five dollar gold piece.

His first surprise came when he found that his trade dollars, which contained more silver than do the silver dollars, were valued only as bullion and his whole $6 was worth only $3.36. He had overlooked the fact that when those dollars were issued, back in 1873, Uncle Sam had omitted to indorse them or to give them any monetary value other than their silver content.

So he did with his $6 what his Uncle Samuel had done—he went through a little transaction in high finance which makes one blush for him. He mixed his dollars up with some "standard" silver dollars and persuaded a small storekeeper to give him bills for them. It happened that these bills were silver certificates.

He tried to induce the treasury department to take them in exchange for the gold piece intended for his mother, but the treasury department politely told him that, while the law provided that the secretary of the treasury should maintain gold and silver on a parity, the section had been construed to mean that silver certificates could not produce gold coin.

Thereupon wild thoughts of the bait and the fishing trip rushed upon him again, but his blood was now up, and he determined somehow to secure that gold piece for the mother, who was becoming momentarily dearer. He succeeded after a time in exchanging his silver certificates for a legal tender note for $5, and, although such notes are protected by a gold reserve equal to only about a third of the issue, the department without hesitation gave him the gold coin.

The narrator of the tale could not remember whether the gold piece ever reached the mother or was spent to celebrate the modern method of the transmutation of metals.—Washington Post.

HIS CHILLY RECEPTION.

Mark Twain's Visitor When the Humorist Was Absentminded.

Absentmindedness was characteristic of Mark Twain. He lived so much in the world within that to him the material outer world was often vague and shadowy.

Once when he was knocking the balls about in the billiard room George, the colored butler, a favorite and privileged household character, brought up a card. So many canvassers came to sell him one thing and another that Clemens promptly assumed this to be one of them. George insisted mildly, but firmly, that though a stranger the caller was certainly a gentleman, and Clemens grumblingly descended the stairs.

As he entered the parlor the caller rose and extended his hand. Clemens took it rather limply, for he had noticed some water colors and engravings leaning against the furniture as if for exhibition, and he was instantly convinced that the caller was a picture canvasser.

Inquiries by the stranger as to Mrs. Clemens and the children did not change Mark Twain's conclusion. He was polite, but unresponsive, and gradually worked the visitor toward the front door. An inquiry as to the home of Charles Dudley Warner caused the caller to be shown eagerly in that direction.

Clemens, on the way back to the billiard room, heard Mrs. Clemens call him—she was ill that day.

"Youth!" "Yes, Livy." He went in for a word. "George brought me Mr. E.'s card. I hope you were nice to him; the B.'s were so nice to us once in Europe while you were gone."

"The B.'s? Why, Livy?" "Yes, of course, and I asked him to be sure to call when he came to Hartford"—Albert Bigelow Paine in St. Nicholas.

TROPHIES OF WAR

Captured Flags Carefully Preserved by Uncle Sam.

ON VIEW IN NAVAL ACADEMY

Restored by Special Process After Having Been in Tatters For Years, They Are a Living Proof of the Heroism of Our Soldiers and Sailors.

In the auditorium of the academic building at the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis are 15,000 square yards of flags, most of them trophy flags.

The capture of these tattered banners helped to make the stars and stripes respected by the nations of the earth and reflect undying glory on the men of the United States navy. They are living proofs of the heroism and courage of the soldiers and sailors who fought to maintain the flag when the nation was struggling for independence and later when it was fighting to establish firmly the foundations of the greatest republic of the world.

From 1847 to 1901 this collection of flags, which should be one of America's most highly prized treasures, was kept at the Naval Academy and exhibited in the old naval institute hall.

In 1901, when it was decided to tear down this building, the flags were packed in iron boxes and stored away. Being in a dilapidated condition when they were taken down to be packed, grave fears were entertained that they would be further damaged by moths.

During the ten years they remained in storage repeated efforts were made to have the government take some steps to put them in a permanent state of preservation, but without success. In 1912 congress appropriated $30,000 for the work of preservation.

About three months later Mrs. Amelia Fowler, an expert on flag preservation, obtained the services of forty needlewomen, who began the arduous task of sewing over by hand every inch of the 15,000 square yards in the flags, as the natural decay of age as well as the almost hopeless ravages of moths made any ordinary method of preservation seem impossible.

A special process was originated by Mrs. Fowler, which is described as "spreading the tattered remnants of each flag upon a backing of heavy Irish linen of neutral color."

The delicate work was guided by the original measurement of the flag, by a knowledge of its design and by placing in vertical and horizontal line the warp and woof threads in the fragments of bunting.

What remained of the original flag was then sewed firmly to the linen backing by needlewomen under Mrs. Fowler's instruction and guidance.

Less than a year after the labor of repairing was begun, on May 16, 1913, the flags were completed and put on exhibition at the Naval Academy.

In the ceiling of the academic building is one of the most interesting of the trophy flags. It is a British royal standard taken from the parliament house at York, now Toronto, then the capital of upper Canada, when the place was taken by the squadron under Commodore Isaac Chauncey and a land force under General Zebulon Montgomery Pike, April 27, 1813.

The squadron, with about 1,700 soldiers aboard, effected a landing at York under cover of a fire of grape from the ships, cleared a way through the Indians and sharpshooters that the English had formed to oppose them and stormed the batteries. The capture of York resulted in the acquisition of the royal standard, the only British royal standard captured and held by any nation.

The flags captured by Admiral Dewey at Manila bay are in this auditorium, and some of them are exquisite. The one flown at the main of the Spanish cruiser Don Antonio de Ulloa is a reminder of the plucky captain of that cruiser, Enrique Robion, who refused to surrender at the battle of Manila bay on May 1, 1898, so the Ulloa sank with its guns blazing defiance and all flags flying.—Boston Globe.

Imitation Damask.

Imitation damask is made today by means of printing upon the surface, with a sort of transparent mullage, the designs. These designs appear to be woven into the cloth. By immersing a sample in boiling hot water and allowing it to boil for several minutes the design will disappear.—Washington Post.

Lost and Found.

"Why are ye lukin' sae pleased wi' yerself?" asked McQuinton. "Weel, mon," replied Farquharson, "I dropped a saxepeen' i' the market place, an' I couldna find it." "That's naught to be lukin' sae gay about," said McQuinton. "Aye, but ye dinna ken," explained Farquharson. "I found a shilling!"

Calling the Bluff.

"I can stay minutes under water." "I knew a fellow who stayed ten minutes." "You're joking with me. How could he keep his breath?" "He didn't. That's why he stayed so long."—Baltimore American.

BECKHAM'S WORDS
FULL OF WISDOMMakes a Strong Speech in Behalf Of Wilson.

ADDRESSES LARGE AUDIENCE

Junior Senator Upholds Worth and Effectiveness Of Present Administration.

REVIEWS DEEDS OF HIS PARTY

Calhoun, Ky., Oct. 7.—Before one of the largest crowds that ever attended a political meeting here, United States Senator J. C. W. Beckham opened the Democratic campaign in McLean county to-day. His speech, in part, follows:

"No party ever came before the American people in a Presidential campaign with a better record or a stronger case than the Democratic party presents to the people in this campaign. Democrats confidently and unhesitatingly claim, and intelligent independent voters and many fair-minded Republicans admit that the administration of our Federal Government for the last three and a half years has never been excelled in the history of this country, in the wisdom of its conduct, in the number and importance of its far-reaching and beneficial legislative reforms, in the admirable and patriotic manner in which it has managed our relations with foreign countries under the most difficult and, at times, dangerous circumstances, and in its many splendid achievements for the advancement of the welfare and happiness of the great common people of our land. It has fully justified the faith of those voters who, by their suffrage, placed it in power nearly four years ago, and by its remarkable course in a momentous period in the world's history, it has won the unreserved approval of that large body of American citizens, who are independent in politics, who are not influenced by partisan prejudices, and who have grown so in numbers and strength in recent years that they can turn the tide of battle either way in a national election.

"We do not need to appeal to the testimony of Democrats to establish our case; we can prove it by presenting the opinions of some of the brightest minds among the independent Republican voters of the country. As a fair and striking example of the many instances of this kind, I attribute coming not from Democrats, but from impartial and patriotic leaders of other political affiliations, let me quote from the recent excellent statement of Dr. Charles W. Eliot, president emeritus of Harvard University, whose sole interest in this election is the welfare of his country and the peace and prosperity of its people. In summing up his views he says:

"Anyone who surveys the extraordinary series of legislative and executive acts accomplished by the Democratic party in three years and a half will realize two things: First that President Wilson has proved himself a party leader of unusual power, and secondly, that the party thus led has done much more for the country than the Republican party accomplished in five times as many years.

"On the whole, the independent voters are likely to act next November on two simple, well-grounded convictions: First, that the Democratic party has done such an extraordinary amount of good work during the present Administration that the period from 1912 to 1916 will be memorable in the history of the United States, and secondly, that the man chiefly responsible for this consummate service to the American people should be again made their chief servant."

"That statement is not from the heated imagination of a partisan politician, but it is the calm and deliberate judgment of one of America's most learned and ablest men, a wise observer of current history, a profound thinker, and a loyal American citizen. Many other eminent men of great ability and service, and equally impartial, have expressed the same opinions. Let me quote from one other:

"Henry Ford has been the most remarkable figure in the industrial world for some years. His extraordinary genius has established the largest and most successful manufacturing plant on earth. He has always been a Republican, and in the primaries in his State, Michigan, before the national Republican convention of last June the Republican voters of his State, by a substantial majority, gave him the instructions in that State for the Republican nomination for the Presidency, even when he was not a candidate, and was not seeking the nomination. Listen to what he says in the closing part of his recent public statement:

"The business of the United States to-day has a momentum that no man, or group of men, can stop. As for the tariff, which the Republicans insist must be revised to help save our prosperity after the war, I want to say that the tariff is nothing but a hothouse remedy.

"It may make business sprout for a little while, but it never can produce a hardy, permanent business plant.

"I'm a Republican, but I'm for Wilson. I'm a Republican for the same reason I have ears—I was born that way. But I'm for Wilson because I believe he can do more to enhance the prosperity and assure peace for this nation than any other candidate. Anyone who does not want peace, and who wants to gamble with prosperity should vote against him."

"I might quote Thomas A. Edison, Prof. Irving Fisher and many other leaders of thought, and men of genius and achievement, to the same purpose. But what is the use of adding to what I have already given? Are not the opinions of these men, impartial and uninfluenced by any selfish or partisan motives, worth more to the voters in making up their minds how to vote in the coming election, than the ill-tempered and warlike utterances of Col. Roosevelt, deeply disappointed in his uncontrollable ambition to again wield the big stick from the White House, or the childish and petulant attacks against the Democratic Administration made by Judge Hughes, the candidate without an issue?

"The sober and impartial judgment of a large majority of the intelligent and patriotic people of this country will pronounce the Wilson Administration to have been unparalleled and conspicuous in its successful conduct of the affairs of the nation. History will so write it, and posterity must commend and praise it, because within these brief years of its existence so far we have come to a turning point in the world's history, and the hand that has guided us through such perilous experiences has kept us in the pathway of peace and safety and progress. Is it wise to take that hand from the helm before we have reached the end of the hard journey? Is it the custom of passengers on a ship, when a pilot has safely carried them through the storm and tempests of the sea, to throw him overboard and substitute in his place an untrained and inexperienced man for the place? Does the farmer, or the merchant, or the banker, discharge a faithful and efficient servant, just to give the place to some untried fellow, who happens to want the job? Do you know of any successful business concern that follows the practice of dismissing its manager, who has capably and satisfactorily conducted its business, simply to gratify the appetites of some hungry place-seeker?

"Then, what reason on earth can there be to displace Woodrow Wilson with Charles E. Hughes unless it be to satisfy, if possible, the inordinate greed for office of those back of the candidacy of Mr. Hughes? What principle do they represent? Their most resourceful leaders can point to none. What issue do they present? The most powerful political microscope has so far been unable to discover a single one.

"Col. Roosevelt upbraids and abuses the President because he did not take such action when the German armies invaded Belgium, or when the Lusitania was sunk by a German submarine, as would have inevitably involved us in war with Germany. He and Judge Hughes say that the President, in those cases, was a 'man of words and not of deeds.' They charge him with weakness and vacillation. And yet if their ideas had been adopted our country would now be involved in the European war.

"It is astounding that sane men, of prominence and leadership, can announce such doctrines and seek to raise an issue for this campaign out of such a monstrous proposition. It illustrates the feebleness of the Republican cause, and reflects upon the intelligence of those who propose such an absurd issue. If we protested against the invasion of Belgium, as the Colonel says we should have done, Germany, of course, would have paid no attention to our protest, and if the warlike Colonel had been President, and was 'a man of deeds and not of words,' as he claims to be, he would have had to send an American army over there to aid in repelling the invasion."

OLATON.

Oct. 9.—The little frost we had frightened the women and they gathered all their greens and brought them to Olaton and sold them for 5c per gallon. A great many of our farmers cut their late corn when only in good roasting-ear form and owing to the warm weather, they will likely lose a great deal of it. Turnips, onions and cabbage are scarce.

Robert Arms and Joe Smith slaughtered a corn-fed beef Saturday. They paid 6 cents on foot and sold it out at 10 and 15 cents per pound. It was a fine beef.

Robert Arms, Misses Zella Lyons and Nancy Daniel went to Shrewsbury, Grayson county, yesterday. They went in Mr. Arms' automobile to visit Mr. Arms' mother.

Miss Kelly returned to her home at Chatham, Ill., last Friday, after a two-weeks visit with the Misses May, of this place.

The G. O. P. reminds me of an old hen with a brood of young chickens when rats get among them, clucking to rally her little chicks. They are doing a great deal of hard work to rally the Progressives. From the amount of speakings they are having a hard time to get them back. A great many will never return to the G. O. P. A burnt child dreads the fire.

There was a very good crowd out to hear the new preacher yesterday, but they were disappointed on account of his failure to get here. The Olaton Methodist church has been put on the Fordville Circuit. The Sunday School was well attended.

Mr. Joe Barrett, who had been working in Indianapolis, Ind., for the past two or three months, has returned home.

Miss Effie Lynch, of Narrows, visited her mother here from Saturday until this morning.

Next Sunday is Rally Day at the Methodist church for the Sunday School. Everybody invited to be present.

KENTUCKY DEMOCRATS
ARE TRUE TO THE FAITH

A representative of the Democratic Campaign Headquarters at Louisville made a trip through some of the mountain counties last week and found that while the Republicans were making strenuous efforts, with money and otherwise, they were making no inroads upon the Democratic ranks. In fact not a single man who had ever been a Democrat was found who would change his vote this time, but numbers of those who had always voted the Republican ticket said they intended to vote under the rooster in November, which will take in the candidate for President and Vice President and the Democratic nominee for Congress. They are enthusiastic over Wilson for his great accomplishments and especially are they grateful to him for having kept the country out of war and by wise and timely legislation procured from a patriotic Congress continuous peace and brought prosperity and plenty to the country. If the Democrats in the other parts of the State give as good an account of themselves as will the true-blues of the hills, the majority for Wilson and Marshall will roll up into many thousands.

There is a Real Difference

Cream of tartar, derived from grapes, is used in Royal Baking Powder because it is the best and most healthful ingredient known for the purpose.

Phosphate and alum, which are derived from mineral sources, are used in some baking powders, instead of cream of tartar, because they are cheaper.

If you have been induced to use baking powders made from alum or phosphate, use Royal Baking Powder instead. You will be pleased with the results and the difference in the quality of the food.
